In a future where almost every inch of the Earth's surface is covered with something, the only thing left is to find places that are naturally free of anything. In this environment, the line between wild and free and uninhabitable is constantly blurred and the only people that survive are the humans with a fighting spirit. They use the ground and whatever nature provides them with to protect and nurture themselves. That is the new reality of the world. Without wings, without the power of flight, they still find a way to fly by the power of their hearts. Maintaining the balance of nature with their human side is the challenge of survival for the residents of this world. Madurai — 5,000 years ago Few people survive being hunted by the Dark Hunters. A group of young people who have been running for their lives are living in a small town in rural India, Madurai, near the Southern Indian city of Madurai. Over the past five years, dozens of people have disappeared from the nearby forest. Nobody knows where the victims of the dark hunters are, so it is up to Keshan and his friends to risk their lives to find out. Teens go on a deadly quest to unlock the secret of the shadows in a world where humankind's survival is determined by their ability to move fast, evade danger, and make unexpected choices. A tragic loss of a loved one can turn a caring and normal teenager into an outcast who must kill, steal, and do whatever it takes to survive. These teens will have to fight to survive. They will also have to fight to find out the truth behind the shadows.
