After the web service returns an answer, the answer is checked if it's valid. If the answer is valid, I want to close some other windows. The problem is, if the timer runs the web service, it also runs the checking code in the answer. And since the answer is supposed to be valid, it should skip the check. Is there a way I can avoid doing the check when the answer returned is valid? A: You are currently running a timer on the UI thread, which will result in a lot of problems if you did that. One option would be to run a separate thread, with a callback, which you call back to from the UI thread, when the answer is valid. James Sinclair (VC) James Sinclair VC (1818 – 6 March 1880) was an Irish recipient of the Victoria Cross, the highest and most prestigious award for gallantry in the face of the enemy that can be awarded to British and Commonwealth forces. Details Sinclair was 21 years old, and a private in the 92nd Regiment, Indian Staff Corps, British Army, during the Indian Mutiny, when the following deed, for which he was awarded the VC, took place at Umballa, India on 16 May 1857. Further information He later achieved the rank of captain and retired in India. The war memorial of the town of Leamington Spa in Warwickshire, where he was born, commemorates him. The medal is owned by the Imperial War Museum, London.
